

Business Spotlight - August

RME Audio Video, Inc.

Having grown up playing instruments and singing, it's no surprise that Jim Richards, Sr. and Jim Richards, Jr. began offering music production services through Jim Sr's musical instrument/electronic repair business. When their music production 'sideline' began to eclipse the repair business, RME Audio Video, Inc. was formed. In addition to music production, the company provides video, lighting, staging and other production services for indoor and outdoor events, including corporate events, and audiences of all types and sizes.

RMEAV strives for perfection, and preplans every detail of any event they are working on and will not stop modifying those details until they are completely satisfied with the result. RMEAV's philosophy is that nothing is complete until it is perfect, even the tiniest of details, and they take pride in being a trusted business partner. Jim Sr. and Jim Jr. know their work is a direct reflection of the company, and they give every project 110% percent.

The father-son duo is not afraid to take on challenges. When the Bolingbrook Promenade concert series experienced inconsistent sound quality from each band using its' own system, they asked RMEAV to help. Once RME Audio, Video, Inc. assumed audio production for these high-profile events, attendance increased substantially, year after year. The Bolingbrook Promenade was so pleased that they asked RMEAV to produce their annual tree lighting event. Despite a complex set up, the event has always been perfect because of the level of preplanning and RMEAV's attention to detail.
